ELECTION 2023: NIGERIANS IN ANOTHER DATE WITH DESTINY

This month February 2023 will mark a watershed in the history of Nigeria as a nation. It a month that will either make or mar the fortunes of the most populated black country in the world. It is the month of decision for Nigerians to begin to chart a new course or to remain in the status quo. Over two hundred million Nigerian will be going to the poll to elect new leaders run the affairs of the country in most of the positions of responsibility for the next four years. The last seven and half years have been a tortuous and worst years for Nigeria and Nigerians. The people have suffered pains and untold hardship in almost all the sector of the economy. The APC led administration has failed woefully to meet the yearnings and aspirations of the people. Beside the high level of insecurity that has bedevil the country, there is an unprecedented hike in the cost of living as poverty, unemployment, fuel crisis etc. has come to live with us. It appeared that nobody seemed to be in control as the nation is going down everyday like a roller coaster. It is evident that nobody in his right senses will ever wish his or her enemies to go through such harrowing experiences again.

This is why every Nigerian must come out to use their PVC to vote and change the old order. A new Nigeria is possible if Nigerians vote rightly. It is another date with destiny and we must not fail as citizens to liberate ourselves from the squalor and underdevelopment which our current leaders have bequeathed on us. Enough of the slavish mentality Nigerians have been subjected to slaves in a society where the ruling is living in obscene opulence and majority are living in acute lack and poverty.

Mr. Godwin Emefiele the current CBN Governor is having a hell of time. Some powerful forces are after his job and the man is fighting back with every breath of his life. His story is on our cover for this month. It appeared the man is a cat with nine lives. Only time will tell. This edition is fully loaded with good stories that touch the heart. Your regulars are there too for your reading pleasure. We once more say a Happy New year to all our subscribers and readers. We thank you for your patronage and we promise to try our best God's willing to remain on the News stand.

Don't forget to drop a line for us after savouring this edition. God bless you and make sure you vote rightly.
