

FROM THE PUBLISHER

Leaders and followers must uphold the sanctity of the truth

So much accusations and counter accusations. Who is really telling the truth? All we have done is to present our story from the different perspectives so that the world will judge. This is not the first time the media is awash with such scandals of this sort. It has been a recurring decimal not only in the National Assembly but also in several institutions of leadership and governance. It is not in the interest of the Media to say whether these allegations are true or not but the Media owes a duty to investigate and present all sides of the story. But one thing is clear and that is the need to uphold the truth, integrity and sanctity of the truth in any position we find ourselves as leaders whether in the Executive, Legislature and the Judiciary and even in the public and private sector in our Nation. The truth is sacrosanct and can no matter what, it cannot be hidden, it is a question of time. It is like the oil that is poured into a jar of cold water, it will always come back to the surface, it cannot remain underneath. The accused and the accusers can always meet at the court and the justice system is expected to do justice and any one found culpable should face the wrath of the law.

This is the only way the society can make progress. Those who by providence find themselves in positions of responsibility should conduct themselves with the fear of God and do what is right so that the nation will move forward. Greed, avarice and self-centeredness will not lead us as a people anywhere. No matter how long we deny the truth God will always hold each and every one of us accountable someday for the service we render to humanity whether good or bad. No one will live on this earth forever so the little time and opportunity that God has given us to lead others we should endeavor to do the right thing because that is the only way we can have a better society for us, our children and future generation. Our Cover for the month is the recent scandal that has rocked the National Assembly with a caption; N480 Million NASS Bribe Scandal, it is a cheap blackmail... NASS, it is their stock in trade...Nigerians react, HEDA, Civil Society calls for Probe.

The story is very explosive as probes and litigations are ongoing. We believe that time will tell as we promise to keep you posted. We bring you a write up on the CBN Governor Cardoso and his first eleven... the men and women who are working hard day and night to get the Nigerian Economy and the banking sector back to shape. The Cardoso's team in our own opinion is doing a good job and we believe it is a question of time and the nation will be better for it. The National Assembly has passed the 2025 budget and Nigerians are waiting patiently to see the implementation and how much it is going to impact on the life of the average citizen on the street. We shall keep you posted. Your regulars are still here for you. This edition will really blow your mind. Do not forget to drop us a line after savoring. God bless Nigeria.
